Australian Human Rights Commission	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li data-bbox="536 533 1391 1070"> - On 12.07.2022, the national campaign “Racism. It Stops With Me” was introduced on the Commission's website. Originally launched in 2012, the campaign was resumed in 2022 after a series of meetings with Australians facing racism. The article states that the campaign provides tools and resources to help people and organizations learn about racism and take action for change. Source: https://humanrights.gov.au/our-work/race-discrimination/projects/new-racism-it-stops-me-campaign To access the campaign website: https://itstopswithme.humanrights.gov.au/ (Access Date: 25.07.2022) <li data-bbox="536 1167 1391 1872"> - In the article shared on the website of the commission on 21.07.2022, it was stated that there was a concern about the safety and well-being of 17 children transferred from juvenile detention center to adult prison. In this context, it was emphasized that the time has come for all Australian governments to change their punitive approach to youth justice in favor of systems that recognize the needs of children and provide them with appropriate care and rehabilitation. It has been emphasized that the early intervention and diversion system implemented for young offenders in many countries reduces the rate of re-offending and is more successful, and it is stated that Australia lags behind in this regard. Source: https://humanrights.gov.au/about/news/media-releases/government-action-needed-protect-children-detention (Access Date: 25.07.2022)
